PROVIDENCE, R.I., August 1, 2018 – Webster Bank is proud to announce that Deborah Viveiros, vice president, relationship manager, has been named to Providence Business News' "40 Under 40" list for 2018. Viveiros was chosen from nearly 200 applicants who work in Rhode Island in a variety of industries.

"Deb is a proven leader who has accomplished a remarkable amount since beginning her career in banking 15 years ago," said Doug Scala, Webster's regional president. "Her commitment to the communities where she lives and works is exemplary of Webster's core values."

In 2003, Viveiros began her business career as an account manager, learning the wholesale residential mortgage industry from the ground up. Webster Bank recognized her strong leadership qualities and recruited her to manage the newly constructed banking center in Barrington, R.I., where she earned the title of vice president at just 28.

Viveiros is a trusted role model at Webster, providing training and coaching through calling clinics and on-site credit instruction. She's completed leadership training, was a United Way Hub-site Champion and served as an insightful panelist for the bank's Webster Women's Initiative Network.

She was promoted to relationship manager in March, based on her outstanding performance in 2017 as a "Top 1" producer through the Webster Bank footprint as associate relationship manager.

A resident of Seekonk, Mass., she earned her bachelor's degree, summa cum laude, from the University of Rhode Island. She is a graduate of St. Mary Academy – Bay View, Riverside, R.I.

Viveiros is heavily involved in her community. She is a board member and past chair of the East Providence Chamber of Commerce and past vice president of the Town of Seekonk Economic Development Committee. She is a board member of the Portuguese American Women's Association and the Children's Wish Group of Rhode Island, a member of the Barrington Business Association and Webster's ambassador to the United Way. In 2016, she was named one of Providence Business News' "Women to Watch."
